SLOAN ONLY MEMBER OF FORMER CANAL BOARD TO BE APPOINTED

Charleroi Man Gets Important Place With Pennsylvania Canal Commission

PITTSBURGERS ARE HONORED

Business Men Win Appointments—New Castle Banker and Wheeling And Washington Newspaper Owner Included on Board

Tom P. Sloan of North Charleroi was the only member of the old Pennsylvania and Lake Erie Ship Canal commission to be re-appointed when the names of appointees were announced by Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh at Harrisburg Friday. Other members of the board named were William H. Stevenson of Pittsburgh, chairman of the board, W. U. Follansbee of Pittsburgh, John E. Shaw of Pittsburgh, David Jameson of New Castle, H. C. Ogden of Wheeling, W. Va., and A. E. Adams of Youngstown, Ohio.

These members replace the old board of five members which was headed by former Mayor Magee and which went out of existence last May. In the new board are representatives of the three States vitally interested.

All the Pittsburghers interested in the project expressed their jubilation over the new board, all taking it as a decisive step toward the actual construction of the canal. "These appointees," said Burd S. Patterson, secretary of the Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal Association, "are eminently satisfactory to all the members of our association in 35 counties in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, and West Virginia. I see in them a guarantee of the early construction of the great waterway. The board's first duty will be to complete the estimates of cost made by the last board, which will probably take a couple of months. A meeting of the board will be held within a week or so.

"When this report has been prepared," he continued, "the canal association will hold a big convention in Pittsburgh of those interested in the project. This will probably be held early in January and, at it, the time for holding the bond elections and the amount of money to be asked from each county will be decided. The first of these elections will probably take place next spring and should they prove successful as we are confident they will, the canal board will probably start the actual construction of the canal next fall."

Mr. Stevenson president of the board is a business man of Pittsburgh, a former president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, a director of the National Chamber of Commerce and has held other offices of honor and trust.

W. U. Follansbee of Pittsburgh is member of the firm of Follansbee Bros., tinplate manufacturers, with offices in Pittsburgh and large factories at Follansbee, W. Va.

John E. Shaw of Pittsburgh is president of the Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal Association and renting agent for H. C. Frick.

David Jameson of New Castle is president of the Citizens National Bank of New Castle, president of the New Castle Board of Trade.

H. C. Ogden of Wheeling, W. Va., proprietor of the Wheeling Intelligence and Wheeling News and other newspapers in Parkersburg, W. Va., and New Castle and the Washington News at Washington.

A. E. Adams of Youngstown, is president of the First National Bank and Dollars Savings and Trust company of Youngstown and interested in many industrial projects.

Mr. Sloan has been active in affairs of the county and district for years. He served as a member of the board of county commissioners in 1900, 1901 and 1902, having been elected to the board when a resident of Granville, near California. After leaving office upon the completion of his term he came to North Charleroi where he has since lived. Since then Mr. Sloan served a time in an editorial capacity on the Mail. He has been also a member of the board of directors of the Mail Publishing company. He is at the present time a member of the board of directors of the Charleroi Savings and Trust company and is treasurer of the Valley Crystal Ice and Storage company of North Charleroi. He has served as rights-of-way man with the Pittsburgh Railways company and has been instrumental in securing many of the rights-of-way for this company on the extensions up the Monongahela valley.

When the canal commission was first appointed in this state by Governor Tener in June 1914 Mr. Sloan was named as one of the members, serving in that capacity until a vacancy was declared early this year.

CAPACITY COKE PRODUCTION AND PERHAPS SHORTAGE OF FUEL FEARED BY MEN IN TRADE

Great Boom in Industrial Circles Felt in Regions From Where Coke is Being Furnished—Railroad Company Has Every Locomotive Running

Capacity coke production and perhaps a shortage of the fuel are predicted by men in the trade during the next month.

This prediction is based on the announcement that 10 independent furnaces will be placed in operation next November 1. Two of them are in the Pittsburgh district at Besemer and Dunbar. The others are outside. These furnaces are already preparing for early coke shipments.

Only the labor shortage can prevent every independent coke plant in Fayette county from being in blast within the next 30 days, it is declared by coke men.

According to reports from Pittsburgh, 63 of 69 blast furnaces in the Pittsburgh district are in blast at the present time. The United States Steel corporation now has 38 of 42 furnaces in blast and 25 of 27 independent furnaces are in operation. Ninety-one and three-tenths per cent of the blast furnace capacity in the Pittsburgh district is in operation, the greatest percentage since 1907.

Authentic reports of the coke production in the entire region show that 417,724 tons were produced last week. The week previous the production was 397,589.

Another record was broken last Monday. The Pennsylvania railroad reported the highest placement of cars in the Pittsburgh district and the Connellsville coke region in its history.

Lake transportation rates are soaring. There is a great congestion of freight traffic at lake ports and at the seaboard on account of the shortages of vessels.

The Pennsylvania railroad made a new record for the moving of freight in the middle division, through Altoona. In September 185,612 cars were hauled east and west over the division or 5,000 more than the record for September established several years ago when 180,670 cars were hauled over the division. Of the 185,612 cars hauled, 113,385 were loaded cars and 89,453 were empty bound, thousands of them carrying coke from Fayette county.

That there is not a single locomotive idle on the Pennsylvania system is the railroad company's report. The last 200 gondolas which had been stored to be burned were returned to service this week, together with a lot of wood coke racks which were to be sent to the home pile.

Ore shipments on the lakes are very heavy. Steel manufacturers believe now that 45,000,000 tons of ore will be shipped this winter. Only 25,000,000 tons were expected. Each ore boat carries back with it a cargo of coal after disposing of its ore cargo, thus increasing the demand for coal.

On account of the shipment of 15,000 steel cars from the ports of Philadelphia and New York to the Russian government, there is a shortage of vessels at those ports. The Russian government is double-tracking the Siberian railroad, causing the demand for more cars.

All railroads report that there is a great increase in the amount of shipments of dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes. There is now a heavy traffic in these commodities and the best winter trade in these commodities that ever has been experienced is looked for during the next few months.

The Fayette county coke region is experiencing a great boom, which will undoubtedly increase during the next few weeks and months. The H. C. Frick Coke company has 90 per cent of its ovens in operation. From 75 to 78 per cent of the independent ovens are in blast. All of the ovens in the region likely will be sending forth their tongues of flame by the middle of next month.

MERITORIOUS PROGRAM GIVEN BY HOME TALENT

Miss Mary Margaret Chester, Assisted by Mrs. Floyd Chalfant, Miss Grace Chester and High School Quartet Entertains Well.

A truly meritorious program was presented by Miss Mary Margaret Chester, reader in her second public recital at the high school auditorium Friday evening. Miss Chester was ably assisted in the rendition of her program by Mrs. Floyd Chalfant, pianist, Miss Grace E. Chester, contralto and the high school girls' quartet composed of Misses Jean Bowers, Thelma Duvall, Grace Fleming and Grace Chester.

Miss Chester herself appeared to give seven good readings. She showed her usual capability for that kind of work and made a hit. Splendid dramatic ability, together with tender feeling in her manners made her work highly enjoyed, and she received eager applause.

Mrs. Chalfant rendered one piano solo, playing with good effect "Morceau Chromatique" by John Orth.

ADELPHIAN SOCIETY ENTERTAINS AT HIGH

Debate at Meeting of Literary Society Is On Question of California's Discrimination Against Japanese—Affirmative Wins.

An especially interesting program was presented by the Adelpian literary society of high school at the high school auditorium Friday afternoon. One of the features was a debate on the Japanese question as it applies in California, the decision being that California was justified in discriminating against the Japanese. Prof. T. L. Pollock was the critic, and Miss Etta Parker, Miss Muriel Scott and Joseph F. Gdaniec were the judges of the debate. The program was as follows:

Solo, "Love's Old Sweet Song," Wellington Carl.
Essay, "Carlyle & Burns," Laura Cook.
Recitation, "Budge's Version of the Flood," Felicie Bosson.
Duet, "Come Sing to Me," Genevieve Hanger and Mabel Orange.

PITCHER SHORE RESEMBLES PITCHER JOHN McILVAINE

Shore, one of the winning pitchers of the Boston Red Sox in the world's series games within the last few days is a pitcher who somewhat resembles John McIlvaine, a local baseball pitcher. This is told by "Dad" Albright, a newspaper writer of Uniontown who attended the world's series. He said: "Shore much resembles 'Seissors' McIlvaine who used to hurl for Charleroi in the Pa. W. Va. league. He has a sharp breaking curve that's a wonder.

Five Youths Under Arrest Now at Lockup Accused Of Recent Crime

TWO IMPART INFORMATION

Their Alleged Confessions Lead to Arrest of Others—Caught Acting Suspiciously In Alley Near Grant's Hardware Store.

In the arrest of five youths of this vicinity following a supposed attempt to enter the hardware store of T. P. Grant, the police believe they have effected an important capture. Confessions said to have been made by two of the quintet implicate them all in the burglary of Carroll's Pharmacy the night of August 4.

The first two to be approached were William Pegg and James Cratty, both of near Charleroi. Their arrest was followed Friday midnight by that of William "Slim" Whitfield, William Walker and David Nutting.

Pegg and Cratty, it is said came from Monongahela on a late car Thursday night and entered the alley at the rear of Grant's Hardware store. They had no more than made their first advance toward opening the rear door of the store, it is stated, until the loud barking of dogs and the summons of people from a restaurant nearby brought the police. Both Pegg and Cratty were caught after having been seen making their getaway.

In trouble and knowing it the two attempted Friday to square themselves with the police it seemed by imparting information concerning the Carroll store robbery. They were encouraged in this by the police who maintained they knew other facts concerning the affair. The outcome of it was that an affidavit was made by at least one of the pair implicating Whitfield, Walker and Nutting in the drug store burglary. Their arrest followed.

The police have made information before Justice of the Peace E. E. Rice for a hearing to be given later. From the evidence it is anticipated.

THE SALOON AND THE MOVIES.

Chicago a few days ago had its first dry Sunday in 40-odd years, and it didn't hurt a bit. The threatenings of the wets proved to be mere rumblings of summer thunder. There was no trouble, remarks the McKean-port News.

On the other hand, the anti-saloon element was equally surprised.
Chicago, deprived of drink, did not go to church, as was anticipated. The nearest the church came to profiting by the sudden drought was in the increased attendance at Salvation Army services. Neither did the wide portals of learning attract those who were once wont to pass between the swinging doors of Bacchus. Lectures and art museums were not popular.

The only institution that really displaced the saloon was the moving picture house. Rather than go outside the city limits to drink Chicago went around the corner to the "movie." It found it here, no doubt, some vulgarity and some cheap excitement. But for the most part it found clean entertainment and found it cheaply.

It has often been held that the desire for drink was only a perverted desire for some good thing. The movies in Chicago are a case in point. But perhaps if Chicago gets along several Sundays without the open saloon after awhile it may get along without the Sunday movies and then the church and homes will reap some real benefit.

PLANTING TREES

This is the season of the year for the planting of trees and shrubbery.
During the month of October and even into early November thousands of trees and shrubbery ought to be planted in Washington county and the setting aside of one day by the state and county superintendent of schools for this specific purpose ought to produce good results, says the Washington Observer.

The school grounds themselves should be object lessons in tree and shrubbery planting. The teachers should instruct the pupils as to the best kind of tree to plant in a given locality and show them how it should be placed in the ground so that it will be certain to grow.

All kinds of shrubs should also be planted about the grounds in the fence corners and near the buildings, as they add so much to the general attractiveness of the surroundings.
But the children should be taught the value of planting trees everywhere, along the roadsides and about their yards and farms and arrangements ought to be made to secure as many trees as possible for the children in order to stimulate their activity. Money appropriated by a school district for this purpose would be well spent.

Generally speaking there is only about one of the leading Christian religious denominations in the world that has in effect a properly regulated and well enforced business system. More than good-will and a promise, constitute the basis of this system, as there should. Before a church should encourage any building proposition—such as all invariably do if they don't fail first—it should know first where its money is coming from and realize its capacity in finance, something rarely realized. Mortgaging the future membership on nothing more substantial than a mere promise is too serious a thing. Careful totaling of resources should be taken by every church congregation with a building program before it calls on the contractor.

For general information and as a stimulus to thought the following question at exchange is commended to the attention of the reading public:
"The city of Grand Forks, North Dakota, borrowed money to buy a fire engine. The engine cost $10,000.
It was interest for 10 years at four per cent. On $10,000 at 4 per cent for 10 years, $6,000; or $5,000 refunded by bonds at 4 per cent for 20 years $6,000. Total cost $12,000. The engine went to the junk heap ten years ago! Still due on the engine $6,000. Departed though dear to memory still."

The legal terms describing the location of a bit of property or the engineering terms describing the grade of a street are quite incomprehensible to those of us who are not endowed with extraordinary powers of understanding unless we are willing to understand tiresome and time-wasting investigations. Reform of description is needed—a reform patterned after newspaper style.

Most anybody, whether church member or not, will tell you there are many halfway churches. There should be a coalescing; efforts would then count for more.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The art of prevarication, vulgarly known as lying, is when once well cultivated a most difficult accomplishment to drop.

It was so that a young fellow who was pushed into a business to keep him out of mischief, had found it.

His employer had also found it out and he was severely admonishing him as to the evils that resulted from such a wickedness as lying.

"It is very bad," he was concluding.
"Sir," said the young man indignantly. "I would have you know that I am a gentleman."

"Pon my word, I never knew such a chap! There you go again."

"Look pleasant," said the photographer. The sitter raised his eyes and gave a snickering smirk. "Your head just a little more to the left, please," suggested the voice from the black shroud. "No, don't move the eyes."

Like a man suffering from a stiff neck or an Eiffel Tower collar, the sitter tilted his head gingerly till it reached the desired angle and he resembled a dying fish trying not to mind.

"That's very nice; very nice indeed," said the photographer. "Stay just there while I make my exposure." He removed the cap as he spoke and counted out a minute and three-quarters. "Thank you," he observed.
"You can get up. I'm afraid you have been sitting on your hat."

"My hat!" roared the sitter, angrily, regarding the flattened felt.
"Why the dickens didn't you tell me I was sitting on my hat?"

"My dear sir," protested the photographer, blandly, "that would have spoiled your expression."

CHARLEROI PEOPLE ARE FIRST, SAYS REV. WILSON

To the Editor of the Mail:

After three years pastorate in Charleroi, of very pleasant work and associations with the people of the city and members of A. M. E. church—as in all human associations
the time has arrived to say good bye.
But before so saying I wish to express to all our citizens of every class and degree our profound gratitude for the uniform consideration and kindness; generosity and friendliness shown at all times. The ministers of the city have exhibited at all times a real and genuine fellowship, as much so that I forgot I was colored.
Revss. Burson, Mead, Bastian, Duty, Carl and Whipkey are fine examples of ministerial dignity and the Christ spirit. The bankers, merchants, business men and professional men have all contributed aid, goodwill and God speed to our material and spiritual success, in church work and otherwise. The first spring season after our arrival we were tendered a plot of ground for gardening purposes. We have had the use of this spot for three seasons without charge, so that the gentleman who offered this has contributed in this way to the A. M. E. church's prosperity, more than most of its membership.
Many of the town's best known men have been unfailing and substantial supporters of our cause. Many, whom we are not allowed space to mention have done for us kind deeds, said to us a word in season and extended to us a warm greeting that will sweeten life and brighten all the future.

God bless Charleroi and its noble citizens for they are the first, even among equals.

Yours very truly,
Rev. I. E. Wilson, pastor
St. James A. M. E. Church.

TIME FOR THE HEAVY MEAL

Frenchman Asserts That It Is Early In the Morning, But Some Differ With Him Radically.

The undisturbed if not heroic digestion which arises at the first clear note of the wood thrush, and, after the due process of orderly kitchen events, sits eager and appetent before a slice of fried ham, a dish of fried potatoes, a stack of wheats, a bowl of oatmeal, a platter of fried eggs, etc., is worthy of note these days.

Our nerve organization requires time for preparation to meet the daily exigencies. It has to be warmed up, and, like a baseball pitcher, cannot go cold to its work. It suggests to the appetite that a bit of fruit, a soft-boiled egg and a cup of coffee will represent sufficiency and kindness to the interior economy.

Therefore when a French man of wisdom, with seeming logic, says that the heavy work of digestion ought to be thrown upon the rested digestive organs and that consequently the "heavy meal" of the day ought to be eaten early in the morning, we reply that his theory is plausible, but in error. Digestive organs may be rested in the morning, but they are not ready to work, except in the case of the now-rare and always heroic digestions before mentioned.

Moreover the French man of wisdom is socially wrong. One may welcome the cheering presence of one's fellow man at six o'clock in the morning, but no lover of the human race wants to see his brother at six o'clock in the morning. The inalienable right of humanity at six o'clock in the morning is a grouch, a silent, comforting grouch, which only asks of humanity that if it cannot keep out of sight, at least it keep its mouth shut.

Eating is as much social diversion as it is stoking. As stoking it would become abhorrent and men would flee to thickets with their meat if eating were not also social. A dinner, properly considered, is the gentle fourth or fifth act of the day. The climax has been reached. The stress has been endured, the complications mastered, and the mind comes restfully to the services of the body.

If we are to have the "heavy meal" of the day set at five or six o'clock in the morning, it will be served to a generation which sits up all night—Chicago Tribune.

Some Progress, Anyway.

There are still many discouragements and setbacks along the path of progress, but our memory goes back to the time when frequently one of the chief worries of a campaign manager was how to keep the candidate sober.—Columbus (Ohio) Journal.

What a Girl Can Do.

One of the authorities was asked whether a girl can love two men at the same time. Probably not. But she can give a sufficiently lifelike imitation of the passion to fool both of the men.—Topeka Capital.

POSTER FOR LAYMEN'S MISSIONARY MEET.

Sets Forth Strikingly Spirit of Christian Missions.

The poster of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, center of campaign for the north-south, east and west, of Christian missions. Home and foreign missions are here summarized in a single sheet. The poster is a great work of art, with a group of workers before it, and mission work at home by a turn of the common people, maybe an immigrant, standing in a city street.

The particular idol which has been taken as a symbol of the great error of the non-Christian world with which Christian missions are contending is the gigantic bronze Daibutsu, or Buddha, in the open country at Kamakura, Japan. A poet said:

A statue so great,
And molded in colossal calm

This wonderful idol is supposed to date from the year 1252, and the reasons and particulars of its erection have been lost in history. Kamakura is not far from Yokohama and was the old capital of the country from 1192 until the fifteenth century. The bronze figure, sitting uncovered in a grove of trees, is fifty-four feet high and ninety-seven feet in circumference. It is made of sheets of bronze, cast separately, brazed together and finished on the outside with the chisel.

The length of the face is eight and one-half feet and the width of the face from ear to ear seventeen feet nine inches. In the forehead there is a solid silver boss of the weight of thirty pounds. Each eye is four feet in length and is made of pure gold. The weight of the statue has been estimated at 450 tons, and its value as bronze, at the prevailing market price, is about $215,000. This does not take into account the silver boss on the idol's forehead or the golden eyes.

The ball-shaped protuberances on the head, which look like curls, represent snails, which, according to legend, crawled up to shelter the bald head of Buddha from the burning rays of the sun. In front of the Buddha there are cases in which are sacred lotus flowers in bronze, and within the figure, which is hollow, there is a shrine or temple. The complacent, unmoved, unseeing expression on the face of Buddha is symbolic of the deities and religions of the non-Christian world, in which there are many religions of souls, who, with the knowledge of Christ, are daily bowing in futile worship, as are those in the picture.

Standing bewildered in the heart of a great American city, in which much of home mission work is centered, is shown a man who needs the ministrations of the church.

He is representative of many thousands. The factors, the tenant and the slum are important factors not only in his problems, but in the work of the home mission agencies. His standards of life are those of some other country. He is poor. His religion, if he has any, does not cover his spiritual longings.

The text of the poster is a concise announcement: "Men Wanted—National Missionary Campaign, 1913-16. Enlist For World Service. Conventions in Seventy-five Cities." The prevalent military note is sounded in the phrase: "Men Wanted" and "Enlist For World Service."

her former teacher in Boston, Mass. She was recalled for an encore number.

Miss Grace Chester had three places on the program. Her first song was "I Know a Lovely Garden", D'Hardle. "I'm a Longin' for You", Hathaway and "Agnus Macdonald". Rochester were sung effectively by Miss Chester. Her accompaniments were played by Mrs. Chalfant.

One of the most entertaining features of the program was that of the singing of the high school girl quartet, "Rockin' in de Win." Neidlinger, was their only rendition, but so pleasingly did they render it that they were recalled to sing it over the second time.

The program of readings was well balanced by Miss Chester, consisting of varied numbers. Perhaps her most pleasing recital was "The Child Wife," an original arrangement from Dicken's "David Copperfield." She recited in good style "The Gypsy Flower Girl" and "The Kroy Wedding."

The entire performance was much enjoyed. Those who assisted Miss Chester as ushers were Misses Edna McMasters, Isabella Dorbritz, Margaret McDermott, Bethel Bowman, Emma Clutter, and Sena Mosier, and Messers Christy Roberts, Roland Greenwald, Paul Kimmins, Guy Moffitt, and Zenobe Baudoux.

SUMMING UP THE EVIDENCE

Many Charleroi People Have Been Called As Witnesses.

Week after week has been published the testimony of Charleroi people—kidney sufferers—backache victims—people who have endured many forms of kidney, bladder or urinary disorders. These witnesses have used Doan's Kidney Pills. All have given their enthusiastic approval. It's the same everywhere. 30,000 American men and women are publicly recommending Doan's—always in the home papers. Isn't it a wonderful, convincing mass of proof? If you are a sufferer your verdict must be "Try Doan's first."

Here's one more Charleroi case.

Mrs. Charles Bromwich, 714 Washington avenue, Charleroi says: "I had a severe attack of kidney disease. I suffered from pain across the small of my back and had headaches and a constant, tired feeling. Nothing I took helped me. After using Doan's Kidney Pills a few days, I felt better and I continued until I was permanently cured."
